

Unit 8 Holidays

By Nie Qiong

Roman Holiday

Lead-in

Quiz

Speaking

Text

Lead-in

Let's

Enjoy Holiday

where can you see
this animal?

In Australia

White House

Fujiyama 富士山

쳤다면 홈런!
대한민국 4번 타자

미스터 고

미스터 고

Mr.GO 3D

김용화 감독 / 원형 성동일 서교 / 쇼박스비디오메가박스 텍스트플러스디오 무림대우엔 2013.07

South Korea.

Canada

South Africa

Sydney

Tian'an Men Square

Pandas

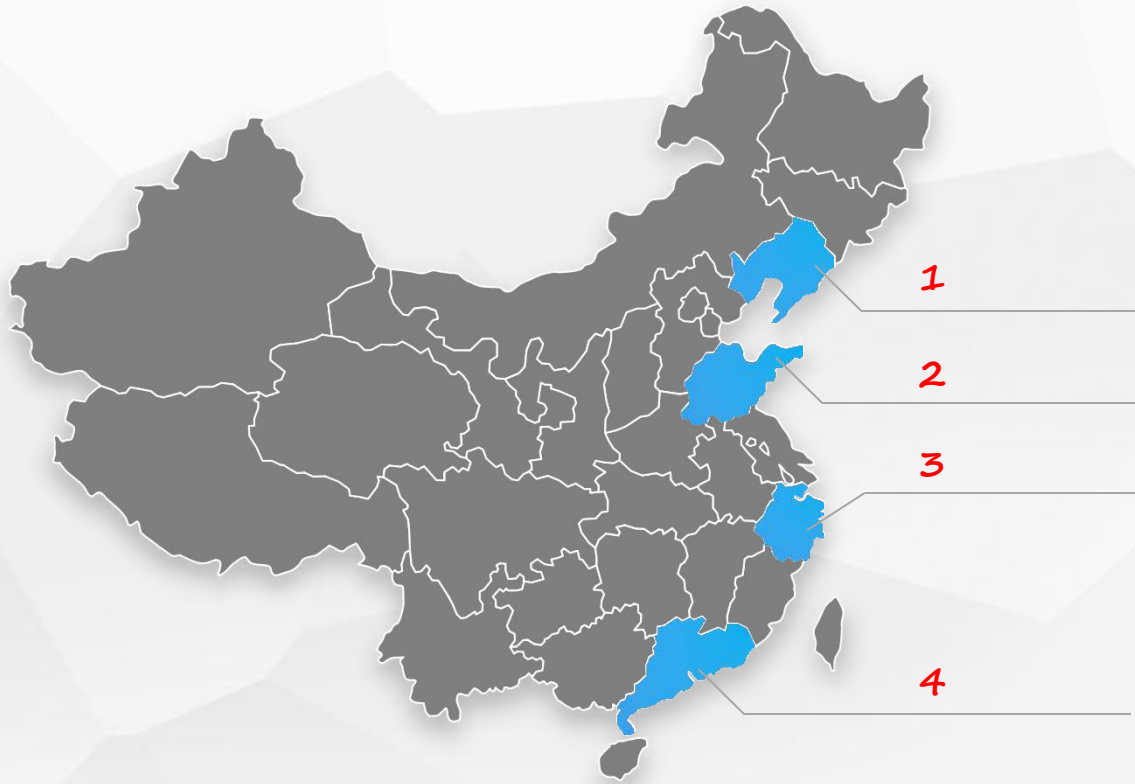

A quiz

● Map of China

1. Liaoning

2. Shandong

3. Zhejiang

4. Guangdong

Do you like going somewhere on holidays?

How do you spend your holidays?

Why do you go on holiday?

WHY?

to enjoy beautiful scenery.

to increase our knowledge

make friends

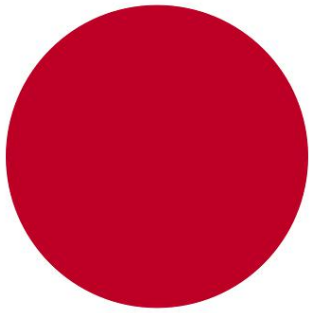

to be good to health...

Full-time workers in most countries receive paid holidays, but no one forces you to use that time. The US, where 57% of people use all their holiday days, ranks first with only 33%. The French are the best at relaxing, with 89% taking all of their allotted time.

In the list of workaholic nations we have:

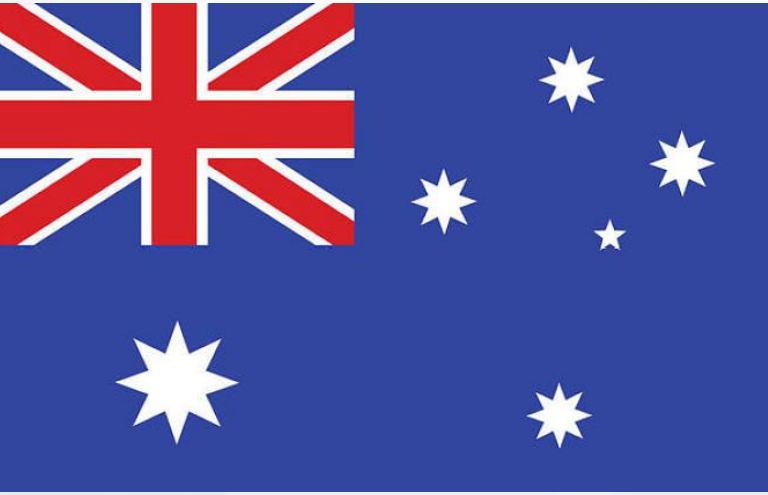

No.1 Japan

The Japanese have a good amount of holidays, with 16 national holidays. But only 33% of people take all their allotted holiday days.

The average worker clocks up 1,714 hours per year.

No.2 Australia

Australians get 8 national holidays off and clock up an average of 1690 hours per year. Only 47% of people take all their allotted holiday days.

No.3 South Africa

South Africans get 12 national holidays off, and employers are required to offer 21 days holiday. But, like in Australia, only 47% of people take all their allotted holiday days.

No.4 South Korea

South Korean employees have 15 national holidays. Employers are required to offer 19 days of holiday time. But only 53% of people take all their allotted holiday days.

No.5 America

There are 10 national holidays and there is no requirement for how much time off employer must offer. But on average, it's 15 days. Americans clock up an average of 1,768 hours per year. only 57% of people take all their allotted holiday days.

No.6 Canada

Canada only has 9 national holidays per year. Canadian clock up an average of 1,699 hours per year. Only 58% of people take all thier allotted holiday days.

No.7 China

In China there are 11 national holidays, and employers have to offer at least 10 days holiday. Only 65% of Chinese people take all their allotted holiday days.

full-time

[, fʊl 'taɪm] adj. 全职的

full-time job 全职工作

full-time staff 全职员工

paid holiday

带薪假

rank

[ræŋk] vi. 列为

Mr Short does not even rank in the world's top ten.

肖特先生甚至没有进入世界前10名。

workaholic

[wə:kə'hɒlɪk] adj. 工作狂的; n. 工作狂;

his workaholic mother

他那位工作狂的母亲

He was a self-contained workaholic.

他是个颇独立的工作狂。

clock up

达到（某一数量）

allot

[ə'lot] vt. 分配

All seats are allotted in advance.

所有座位都提前分配好了。

nation

['neɪʃ(ə)n] n. 国家

the nations of Europe

欧洲各国

South Korea

[saʊθ kə'riə] 韩国

South Korean

[saʊθ kə'riən] adj. 韩国的; n. 韩国人

employer

[ɪmˈplɔɪə(r)] n. 雇主

The telephone company is the country's largest employer.

这家电话公司是该国最大的用工单位。

employee

[ɪm'plɔɪi] n. 雇员

I am only an employee.

我就是一个雇员罢了。

requirement

[rɪ'kwaɪəmənt] n. 要求

Do you have any special requirement?

您有什么特别的要求吗？

on average

通常

How much do you spend on clothes, bags and shoes on average every month?

请问您平均每月花多少钱在衣服、包包和鞋子上？

paid holidays

worakholc

South Korea

requirement

on average

韩国

要求

通常

工作狂的；工作狂的

带薪假

谢

谢

观

看

THANKS FOR WATCHING !